The resolution adopted is to be pre-sented before the New York meeting by a specially appointed delegate representing Mrs. Donald McLean, the president general, who had been invited to participate, but who was unable to do so, owing to the congress of her own organization in Washington. The resolution will be carried to New York this morning by Capt. Richmond Pearson Hobson, who himself appeared before the convention yesterday as an envoy from the Arbitration and Peace Congress to the meeting

The resolution, the discussion and adoption of which was the principal event of the day, was read by Mrs. Eilen Spen-cer Mussey, State regent of the District of Columbia. It was adopted unanimous , the members applauding at the con-lusion of the reading. The resolution as proposed at the suggestion of Mrs. McLean. A copy is to be presented also to Andrew Carnegic, who is presiding at the New York peace meeting. Among other things the Daughters advocated the proposition with regard to the ten nations daughters who have been selected by Mrs. McLean. To-day, together with the nava officers, they will go before the Arbitration and Peace Congress and present
